

Augusta University Environmental Compliance Statement

Augusta University is committed to achieving excellence in providing a safe working and learning environment, and supporting environmentally sound practices in the conduct of institutional activities. Augusta University complies with applicable environmental and occupational safety laws and regulations, and has designated a key member of its administrative leadership team to oversee compliance. In the absence of specific laws or regulations, Augusta University follows industry standards and good management practices.

Augusta University maintains policies and procedures to govern activities to meet the goal of comprehensively integrating occupational safety and environmental considerations, and periodically reviews and updates these policies and procedures.

The Augusta University Environmental Health and Safety Division is responsible for developing standards, guidelines, and processes to promote, support, and access the implementation of environmental and occupational safety management programs and initiatives.

Recommendations for improvement are welcome.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Philip Young', with a stylized, cursive script.

Philip Young, CHP
Associate Vice President
Environmental Health and Safety

July 1, 2020